SOUTH CARROLLTON BANK BURGLARIZED

One Of 3 Highwaymen Captured—Others Make Escape

Three white men, poorly disguised as negroes, entered the Citizens Bank of South Carrollton, last Monday at about 2 o'clock, P. M., and at the revolver's point held up the officers and robbed the bank, securing approximately $7,000 in cash, the greater portion of which, if not all, was in gold, $5,000 of coupon bonds and $15,000 in registered bonds, the latter of course will not be lost to the owners.

The three men drove up in an auto and after holding the bank up, attempted to get away in the auto, but for some reason the motor worked poorly and but little distance was covered before they took to their heels. Marshal Ashbey encountered the bandits as they were getting away from the bank and shots were sent his way, one of which inflicted a leg wound that disabled him. The robbers crossed the river into Ohio county, and then back into Muhlenburg, at least one of them did, where he was captured late that evening, as he was emerging from a thicket. The captured man is John Wells, a resident of Central City, and according to his confession his two partners in the crime are likewise residents of the same place, or have been until recently. Their names as given, are Forest Withers and Alfred Armstrong, all are said to be of good families.

A large posse searched long and faithfully for the uncaptured bandits but so far without results. It is now thought the men have succeeded in eluding capture, for the present. Detectives have been on the grounds for some time, and as the two escaped robbers are well known their capture ought to be a matter of only a few days at the most.

The holdup was nicely planned by the three, according to Wells' story, in Cincinnati, Ohio, some time ago. The Carrollton bank being selected because each of the three were familiar with the bank and surrounding country. The burglary too, was perpetrated under ideal conditions. There was a big show in Central City on that day and almost everyone who was not busily engaged was, of course, attending the show, as Central City is only three miles from the scene of the robbery.

The looted bank carried burglar insurance which fully protects the interest of stockholders and depositors. No material loss will be sustained by any patron of the bank, except, however, owners of some of the unregistered bonds, who may have left them with the bank merely as a matter of convenience, may sustain losses to the extent of the amount of their bonds stolen. Of this matter, tho, we are not advised.

ACQUAINTANCE FROM AFAR, BY WATER-SOAKED PAPER

Mr. Spencer H. McAlester, of New York state, and Miss Dewey Johnson, a young college girl, of near town, became acquainted in a quaint and very interesting way.

In the early summer of 1918 the Republican published an article, telling of the exploits of Miss Johnson with the pitch-fork, team and plow, and commended her energy and pluck in filling the shoes of a man called away by the draft.

This article was clipped and reproduced in The Paris Edition of the Chicago Tribune, which paper found its way into the muddy trenches and into the hands of Mr. McAlester. At that time McAlester was in the front line trenches on the Lorraine sector. The trenches were muddy and half filled with water and the paper came floating to him, almost unreadable, but he had not seen a paper or letter for over a month and he and his buddies succeeded in drying the paper enough to enable them to read it.

It was in this paper that he read of Miss Johnson and her farmerette costume, and when he was sent back of the lines, he wrote to her and sent the clipping, telling her how it fell into his hands.

They corresponded during the remainder of the war and when McAlester came to the states and was discharged from the service, he rambled down to Kentucky, in a car, to visit Miss Johnson. He says the clipping from the Republican is directly responsible for his visit to Kentucky, but that he isn't the least bit sorry.

Mr. McAlester left Saturday for Louisville, going from there to his home in New York. Previous to his entering the army he was engaged in the news paper business, his father being the proprietor of a string of weekly newspapers in New Jersey. Since his return from overseas he has been employed by the Fordson people, to assist in the distribution of tractors in his home community.

MRS. RILLIE WILLIAMS.

Mrs. Rillie Williams died at the home of her son, Dr. W. S. Williams, in Durant, Okla., Sunday afternoon. Her remains were buried at that place on the following day.

Mrs. Williams was also the mother of Dr. J. R. Williams, of Shawneetown, Ill., with whom she made her home, but was with the other son, Dr. W. S., when taken ill, some weeks ago. Mrs. Williams was born and reared in this county, where she had a host of relatives and friends.

MR. J. H. THOMAS' BELATED LETTER

Editor Republican:—I notice in the current issue of the Hartford Herald that I came in for a list of ridicule for advocating the road tax for Ohio county.

Personally, I have no interest in Ohio county roads, but as a citizen of the county for most of my life I feel a just pride in the progress of the county. It is true, I regret to say, that my former home precinct, Narrows, voted against the road tax, but I did not go to the precinct to advocate the measure, and this taunt comes with poor grace from the Herald, whose chief director came all the way from Washington, to put some "pep" in the Carroll Campaign, only to lose the county by a big majority. I believe he also wrote a letter from Washington telling the Democrats how to vote in the Governor's race.

It would appear that Gabe and John Henry had small influence with Ohio county voters.

However, the personal equation is to me more amusing than offensive, but it is the Herald's attack on Ohio county's fiscal officials that calls for the severest condemnation. This shameful story, to which it gives currency, is wholly inexcusable.

It is well known to Ohio county people that the Herald, whose chief director boasts of being a partisan, opposed the road tax because the fiscal officials who would direct the disposition of the tax money if voted, are Republicans. As an example of backwoods journalism the Herald's opposition to the road tax puts it in a class by itself.

NOTE—The foregoing communication was received just before going to press with our last issue, but too late to publish.

JOBBER GETS ARMY BACON FOR 30 CENTS

Re-Sold To Consumer For Almost Double That Amount

Washington, Aug. 12—While the nation has been crying for cheaper meats, the government recently has sold millions of pounds of bacon for 30 cents a pound to rehandlers. Ultimately this meat reaches the consumer. The present retail price of such meats is from 56 to 60 cents a pound.

Large quantities of army supplies, it was learned today, were sold to various concerns by the War Department before a halt was called on unregulated selling by Congress and other agencies.

In the future the bulk of the supplies will go to the municipalities and more directly to the consumer by parcel post, and there will be no more selling of surplus in Europe in conformity with the demands of Congress.

Big Bid Fails.

One of the biggest of the propositions of the War Department to sell vast stores by competitive bidding failed some time ago because the prices that were offered by those who wanted large lots were so small.

The War Department canceled all of the bids. Before that, however, the following sales were made:

To the Hudson River Day Line—10,000 pounds of mutton at eighteen cents a pound.

To a Baltimore firm—Two million pounds of bacon at thirty cents a pound.

To another Baltimore firm—448,000 pounds of bacon.

To a Brooklyn firm—Two sales, one was 448,000 pounds of bacon which brought $764,560; the other was 2,243,000 pounds which brought $713,860, (about 30 cents a pound.)

The original idea of the War Department was that large quantities of surplus should not be put on the market at any one time because such a policy would disturb the market. Large quantities, however, have been recently offered through agencies of municipalities and the Post office Department direct to the consumer, and the effect has been that the market was in fact disturbed. It had, according to the War Department statement of yesterday, the effect of causing retailers to lower their prices.

CALIFORNIANS THRILL AT SIGHT OF PACIFIC FLEET

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 10.—Thousands of residents of Los Angeles and other nearby towns and cities to-day for the first time saw or trod on the decks of an American dreadnought when they visited this port, where the Pacific fleet arrived yesterday. Other thousands gathered in Exposition Park to hear an address by Secretary of the Navy Daniels.

"To the west coast," said Mr. Daniels, "the coming of the fleet is significant because it has come, not for a day, but forever. It will be a permanent defense against any possible aggression from any foreign foe."

Later enlisted men of the fleet were guests at a rodeo with Douglas Fairbanks and Will Rogers in charge. For two hours they were thrilled by "wild west" feats.

FRENCH ACT INSULT TO U. S. AT VIENNA

Bitter Because Americans Ask That Rumanians Quit Hungary.

Paris, Aug. 12—The story of a deliberate act of effrontery against the United States peace commission here and of how the Americans "got even" has just become known.

Brig. Gen. H. H. Bandholtz, the American member of the allied mission to Budapest, was prevented by the French from accompanying the other members of the mission to the Hungarian capital in the special train chartered and run by the French.

Use Special Train.

At the last moment, General Bandholtz was notified there was no room for him aboard that train. The Americans swallowed the insult but immediately secured a special train from the Austrians at Vienna and with it beat the French train into Budapest.

(Note)—It appears from the dispatch that the allied-American officials were in Vienna at the time the mission was decided on, so that to blame the conduct toward General Bandholtz lies with French officials at Vienna, not with the French government at Paris.)

So bitter is the French attitude in Austria and Hungary against the Americans because of the American demand that the Rumanians, whom the French support, should leave Hungary, that every possible obstacle is being placed in their way. The treatment of General Bandholtz is only an illustration of the whole conduct toward Americans by French officials in the former Hapsburg empire.

In the face of immense difficulties the Americans, being virtually powerless in that "sphere of influence" have taken the situation as good naturedly as they could, swallowing many an insult and trying to work for harmony.

Because of its diplomatic delicacy, no mention is made of the Bandholtz incident in official quarters. Nor are the Americans complaining. In the effort to accomplish something concrete in the face of the strong opposition, they are willing to stand almost anything.

MRS. JULIA ALDRIDGE GETS LETTER FROM SON OVERSEAS

Tours, France July 14, 1919. Dear Mother:—As I have not heard from you will again write you. Have written to you often, directly and through my friend Mrs. A. A. Babbitt, but it seems I can't reach you either way.

I am stationed at Tours, France, and as usual am having a fine time. I had good luck all through the war, went through three big drives and came out without a scratch, and now I am a military policeman. I do as I did when in the Infantry, ride everywhere I go. After the war was over we "hiked" for 14 days, straight, of course we were nearly worn out, but felt like boys when it was all over. You may wonder what effect this war has had on me. Well, it has made me about ten years older than I really am. I have seen and learned a lot of things since I joined the army. I have seen and dealt with lots and lots of people, but have kept myself clean and clear of all contamination.

You may perhaps wonder if I have been glad that I volunteered. Yes, I am proud of the fact, proud that I enlisted in Company H, 3rd., Kentucky, on the night of June 22, 1916. I had no idea of ever seeing service in France, at the time, but when I was called out the second time and sent to Hattiesburg, Miss., I said then, that I would see a little of this war. So I waited until I had a chance and volunteered for duty overseas.

My opportunity came when our Captain lined the men up and asked all who wanted to go to France, to step out of the line and I was with those who were first to walk out. The boys are being sent home as fast as possible, but don't have any idea when I will be sent back, so don't expect or look for me until you see me coming. Have no worry about me, because I am in perfect condition. I was sent to Paris to do duty and I can say that it is certainly "some" place. I was also at Versailles when the peace treaty was signed. I saw the big parade on July the 4th, in Paris. I have a lot of nice views of the Capital City, but will bring them with me when I come home, the mails are too uncertain. Some day I will be at home, and when we are sitting around the fireside I will tell you of all of my experiences and I shall do some listening while you tell me of all that has happened at home while I have been away, and I certainly hope that that time will not be long off.

I will close, hoping to hear from you soon, I am as ever your loving son,

MINERS WILL STARVE AS RESULT OF TIEUP

Charleston, W. Va., Aug. 13—Thousands of miners and their families in the Logan, Coal River and Cabin Creek fields face starvation in the next two or three days and now actually are suffering privations as the result of the freight and passenger tie-up on branch lines of the Chesapeake & Ohio railroad by the shopmen's strike, according to word received here to-day by coal companies which operate in that section. More than 300 mines have been closed down and 30,000 men thrown out of work by the strike, reports said.

On account of the rough mountainous topography of the country surrounding the mine fields it is impossible to transport foodstuffs by other means than railroads to feed the 125,000 population there. The desperate situation of the mining communities, it is said, will be placed before a meeting of striking shopmen to-night, at Huntington.

VICTORY SIGHTED IN TREATY FIGHT

Republican View Of Reservations Appears To Be Winning

Washington, Aug. 13—The trend toward agreement on reservations in the peace treaty reached the stage today where the group of Republican senators advocating reservations received assurance which they accepted as guaranteeing Democratic assent to their program.

Word reached members of the group, it was said, that as soon as they could pledge a score of Republican votes for reservations to the League of Nations covenant along the line recently agreed on by seven Republican senators, the administration forces in the Senate would be willing to line up on that basis for ratification of the treaty.

There was an intimation also that the reservations had reason to believe their ranks eventually would include Senator Lodge, chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee and Republican leader of the Senate.

Would Insure Ratification.

Twenty Republicans, it was declared would be enough with the administration Democrats to make up the two-thirds necessary for ratification. The program on which it is sought to unite these elements contemplates reservations to further protect the Monroe doctrine, to insure domestic control over domestic questions, to amplify the right of withdrawal and to fortify the power of Congress to decide questions of peace or war under Article X.

It was declared the information that Democrats were in a receptive mood toward such a proposal did not come from Senator Hitchcock, of Nebraska, the administration leader, but from a source considered entirely authoritative. The Nebraska senator himself denied that he had taken part in any such negotiation and said his advocacy of unreserved ratification remained unaltered. Mr. Lodge also denied that he had given assent to the proposed reservations.

Speeds Up Program.

Meantime, however, at a meeting of the Foreign Relations Committee, Senator Hitchcock gave notice that unless the committee completed without undue delay its consideration of the treaty, some independent action might be expected on the floor of the Senate. In the suggestions for speedy action Chairman Lodge concurred, and the upshot of a heated discussion was an announcement that the committee would begin tomorrow the consideration of proposed amendments.

Although Senator Hitchcock said no definite plan for independent Senate action had been formulated, it is known that the possibility of taking the treaty away from the committee and bringing it to a vote has been discussed informally in many conferences among senators. Both the Democrats and the reservation Republicans have been insistent that public sentiment demanded disposition of the treaty without delay.

Beginning of End.

Among many senators the day's developments were interpreted as marking the beginning of the end of the long treaty fight. This prediction was by no means unanimous, however. Some Republican members of the committee believe they should have more information before they act, and two of them, Senators Johnson, of California, and Borah, of Idaho, wrote a letter to Chairman Lodge today asking that General Bliss, Colonel House and others connected with the Versailles negotiations be asked to appear before the committee.

The general expectation was, however, that the committee would not change its plan to proceed to a decision on the treaty, and that outside the committee events might shape up even more rapidly. After they heard from the Democrats today the reservation Republicans began a poll to ascertain just how many of their party they could count on in their negotiations. An early adjournment of the Senate interrupted the move, but within a day or two they expect to have a more definite idea of their strength.

Beautiful Girl Discovered In Wild Southern Russia

Robert Welles Ritchie in Louisville Herald.

London, Aug. 9th.—She's tall, heretically mended, with competent span of shoulders and the depth of bosom and generous curve of hips that mark the primitive woman destined to be a mother of men. Her eyes are blue as the Caspian ruffled by wind and the color of the great masses of hair she wears coiled under an Astrakhan cap, is crude gold. This is the description of Col. Manusha Nikifrova, the girl commander of the anarchistic republic of Berdiansk, which Dr.
Broendsted, a Danish physician gives upon his return to Copenhagen.

The Danish doctor met this Caucasian girl colonel in command of her troops away off in a little island of Utopia bounded by the uncharted seas of Bolshevism somewhere in Southwestern Russia.

Picture Fires Imagination.

The picture he brings back of this free-striding Amazon with the burnished hair, herself directing the handling of machine guns at drill and correcting one of her under officers when he made an incorrect pass in exemplifying the deadly code of the bayonet, is one to fire the imagination of the tale writer.

"Sister Manusha" she is to all her soldiers and to the strange citizens of this republic without laws. She speaks English and French; she eats black bread with the soldiers at mess hour and plays Grieg's "Anitra's Dance" with swift and sure fingers after nightfall and when the flickering light from a single candle casts shadows on the keyboard of an ancient piano in her officers' quarters.

Garbed As Man.

A girl in the grab of a man—rough boots to her knees and belted blue tunic buttoned to her full, round throat, candle light glinting from the silver insignia on her shoulders, from the low wave of raw gold dropping over her forehead, flying hands that flit like pale bats up and down the yellowed ranks of keys—Ah, the Danish doctor brings back a picture from the Never-Never Land of Romance.

How "Sister Manusha" became a warrior, how a colonel, Dr. Broend-sted does not know. She is not a woman of the peasant class, he says; something higher and less earthly than that. Of kin she has none; of lovers a plenty, but the colonel simply flashes at these latter a challenging glance from her mocking eyes, and strikes on her way with a heart free as a gull.

An Anarchist—But—

She's an anarchist, yes, because as she says, her people have tried every form of government since the revolution and have discovered they can live happiest with no government at all. "Father" Makhno, a clever pensioner, enjoys the position of dictator, the zone will admit he's more than a "father" over the million and more people of the republic. The army of 10,000 is used not to spread the anarchist doctrine nor to plunder neighbors, but just to warn away aggressors.

Berdiansk has found one spot of sunlight in the gloom that shrouds Russia and is contented to remain there while the clash of war rages on all sides.

33,000 WORKERS OUT AT PACKING PLANTS

Chicago, Aug. 8.—Decision to recall the troops from the stock yards and riot district here, whose presence was one of the causes alleged for the general stock yards strike, was announced this afternoon.

A general strike of 33,000 employees at the packing plants in the stockyards began at 9 o'clock this morning.
The action followed the decision of the Stockyards Labor Council last night to call a general strike unless the State troops and police guards were immediately withdrawn from the plants. The strike was precipitated by the return of 5,000 negroes to work yesterday.

The dispute according to labor leaders, is over the employment of non-union negroes rather than race mixed. Many of the negroes, it is said, have refused to join the unions.

When the white employees reported for work early in the day they demanded that the State troops and police guards, which had been stationed at every plant when the negroes returned yesterday, be immediately withdrawn. Both the city authorities and the packers declined to accede to this demand. The men walked out quietly. It is said that several thousands of the negro non-union workmen remained at their posts.

There was practically no trading in livestock here to-day. Even before the beginning of the strike in the stockyard establishments, the buyers awaiting developments as to the labor situation. Business was further hampered by the uncertainty of shippers as to whether any railroad outlet for purchases here would be available.

State troops were withdrawn from the plants and mobilized in Dexter Pavilion, near the entrance of the stockyards, to be held for emergency duty. More than 1,000 policemen and Deputy Sheriffs remained on duty in the various plants.

While the thousands of white employees were walking out, a large number of negro men and women applied for employment.

Officers of the Stockyards Labor Council said that about 12,000 negroes have been employed by the different packers in Chicago and that of this number 3,000 are union men, who walked out with the white workers.

Representatives of the packers declared to-day that the police on duty in the stockyards were assigned to duty by the city authorities to prevent race riots and that they were powerless to order the guards away.

LIKE GERMAN STYLE

Brazilians Suggest Hints To U. S.
Business Men.

Rio De Janeiro, Brazil, July 15.— Whatever else the Brazilians may think of the German, they have a strong liking for the business methods of the German representatives formerly in Brazil. Pattern after the German if you would be successful in dealing with the Brazilian merchants, is the advice Brazilians give to North Americans seeking to establish commercial connections held by European business houses before the war.

It is not from a desire to criticize, but more from a spirit of sympathy and helpfulness that Brazilians offer this advice.

One local merchant says the German devoted all his efforts to pleasing the customer. He learned the native language, catered to the likes, whims and eccentricities of the buyer. He did not try to convince the customer that he did not know his business or that the people did not know the styles. Instead he ordered from Europe exactly what the merchant requested, and when the shipment arrived he was on hand to see that it was right or to make it satisfactory.

In contrast to this the Brazilian merchants tell of many North Americans trying to sell them something they do not want, trying to convince the Brazilian that he does not know his own market, or even taking his order and then sending something entirely different. The story is told of one Brazilian ordering a number of black horses from North America and receiving all white.

Generally the Brazilians are sympathetic toward the incoming North Americans. But if they are coming into the field to stay it is felt they should learn to play the game according to local rules—please the man who is doing the buying and who in turn must please the people in order to dispose of his goods.

When you buy a range that has proved itself to be the best, your money has been well invested. The MA-JESTIC DEMONSTRATOR will, during the week commencing August 18, show you why the MAJESTIC is the best, and why it actually saves you money.

THE GOOD SPORT OF HORSESHOE PITCHING

"Nearly everyone would say that the great American game is baseball, but there is a game which is more deeply rooted in the hearts of every American. We hire our baseball players for us but we pitch our own horse shoes.

There is scarcely a group of men who find a little leisure on Sunday afternoon or before sunset but who will at once get out their horse shoes and play as long as they can see," says Mr. Frank Baakes, V. P. American Steel & Wire Co. "Many a time even the dinner bell cannot break up an exciting game.

"In almost every county, farmers clubs are in process of organization but there is grave danger that they will take themselves too seriously, therefore I wish to urge that whoever has the matter in charge will name a committee of fun-makers and by a means make pitching horse shoes the official game of all meetings.

"Eliminations can begin any time and the local 'champion' qualified to pitch in the semi-finals of the school district and township and to enter the tournament to be held at the county fair in the race tracks in front of the grandstand where each team may have its rooters.

"In order that the game may be scored uniformly, we will furnish a set of scoring rules which should be followed, because this great sport will undoubtedly take on a national aspect when the county champions are discovered.

Horse Shoe Tournament Rules.

Rule 1. Standard distance shall be 33 and one half feet between the pegs.

Rule 2. The ground shall be as near level as possible and no holes shall be made about the pegs other than caused in actual contest.

Rule 3. The peg shall be made of wood, shall be round and not less than two feet in length (a broomstick makes a good one). It shall be driven straight up and down. The height of the peg shall be eight inches above ground.

Rule 4. The pitcher's box shall extend three feet on either side of the peg and six feet back of the peg.
The player may stand anywhere within the box.

Rule 5. Contestants shall toss one shoe to decide who shall pitch first.
In a four-handed game, one player shall lag for each side.

Rule 6. The winner may concede the loser the first pitch or shall retain the right, if he chooses.

Rule 7. Should a tie occur, the last pitcher pitches off first.

Rule 8. Shoes may be of any size and weight and two shoes shall be furnished by each contestant.

Rule 9. In four-handed games, partners shall have the right to coach each other. Spectators or players are forbidden to coach a pitcher or in any manner interfere. Applause is not interference.

Rule 10. The game shall consist of 21 points.

Rule 11. A team match shall consist of one game. The losing team is eliminated and the team winning the most games, shall be declared the winner of the contest.

Rule 12. An individual match shall consist of one game. The loser is eliminated and the player winning the most games, shall be declared the winner of the contest.

Rule 13. The referee shall draw teams and shall show order on card kept by the scorers. When there are an odd number of teams or players, the team or player drawing "bye" shall wait until start of second run in public matches, players must wear numbers in plain view.

Scoring Rules.

Rule 1. The closest shoe to the peg, shall count one point. If both shoes are closer than either of the opponents, they shall count two points. When three shoes are equal distance or touch the peg, the side having two of the shoes shall score one point. If both contestants have one shoe each equal distance from the peg or against the peg, they are tied and the one having the next closest shoe shall score one point.

Rule 2. A leaner shall count three points. The peg must support the shoe, none of the shoe remaining flat on the ground.

Rule 3. A scratch ringer is a shoe that is made to circle the peg by being struck by another shoe or in any other manner than by a perfect pitch and shall count three points.

Rule 4. A ringer is a shoe that is thrown from the pitcher's hand so as to form a complete circle of the peg when it strikes the ground and counts five points. If a straight stick touches the peg, when placed across the points of the shoe, it shall not count as a ringer.

Rule 5. Two perfect ringers is the highest score and shall count ten points. If one side gets two ringers and the other side but one, the side having two ringers shall count five points. If one side shall have a perfect ringer and the other side a scratch ringer the side having the perfect ringer will count two points.
If one contestant should have a leaner and the other a scratch ringer, the one having the next closest shoe, shall score one point. If each contestant should have a perfect ringer, neither counts, but the player having the next closest shoe shall score one point.
If one contestant should have two leaners or two scratch ringers or a scratch ringer and a leaner, and the other a perfect ringer, the one having two scratch ringers or leaners shall score one point.

Rule 6. The referee shall be furnished with a standard rule and shall measure from the nearest point of the shoe to the nearest point of the peg.
Referee to decide all questions of dispute and his decision to be final. If at any time in the judgment of the referee, the ground is too badly chopped up, the earth must be replaced and tramped down before resuming the game.

In order to add to the interest of these public matches, the American Steel & Wire Company, Chicago, will arrange to give new horse shoes in any weight, as prizes to the winning team.
Write them the conditions under which the match is to be conducted, and they will make you a suitable offer of prizes. They reserve the right to give prizes only for bona fide public matches.

KENTUCKY CROP REPORT.

The very early wet weather in the spring retarding planting of corn and other crops followed by weeks of extremely dry weather, has made a very unfavorable season for the farmer.

Early corn has suffered much damage especially on the uplands, as have gardens and pastures also. Rains in many locations have brought relief and will aid all crops.

Wheat did not come up to expectations. The State average is given at 11 bushels per acre, running in various sections from 9 bushels to 14 bu., as sectional average. This is 3.9 bu. less than last month's estimate. In some localities it is reported as threshing exceptionally light. This average is one bu. per acre less than last year.

On a preliminary estimate, rye is averaging a yield of 11 bu. per acre; while oats is averaging 20 bu. per acre, which is 2 1/2 bu. per acre less than last year's estimate.

The outlook for the corn crop is for a short one, owing to the excessive hot, dry weather. Corn on the lowlands has not suffered to the extent that corn on the ridges has. The western and northwestern parts of the State show the greatest damage from drouth.

Great stress is laid upon the need of copious rains during this month, in order to bring crops up to anything like normal.

Corn acreage shows at 91 per cent, while condition is given at 74 per cent. This is 20 per cent lower in condition than has been given for several years, and would indicate an exceptionally short crop of corn.

Burley tobacco shows an acreage of 93 per cent, while condition is given at 81 per cent, which is a slight improvement over last month's condition.

Dark tobacco is given at 91 per cent, and condition 75 per cent, indicating the hardship the drouth has worked upon this crop.

A very uneven stand of tobacco is reported.

Condition of hay is 92 per cent, with an estimated yield of 1.5 tons per acre. Some hay was lost owing to the excessive prices demanded for farm labor and shortage of help during the time of harvest.

Condition of alfalfa is given at 84 per cent, and it is estimated the yield of the second cutting will average one ton per acre.

Soy beans acreage is 87 per cent, which is a slight increase over last year. Condition is given at 83 per cent. Cow peas acreage shows at 80 per cent, which is 4 per cent less than last year, and the condition shows 80 per cent.

Only eleven counties report any buckwheat acreage, which as a whole is given at 91 per cent. Russell county shows the greatest increase as compared with the acreage of last year.

Broom corn acreage is 82 per cent, and condition is 80 per cent.

Hemp is reported from but four counties, showing an acreage of 60 per cent and condition of 75 per cent.

Sorghum is almost a failure.

Condition of fruits is given at 56 per cent, while melons show at 69.

Condition of potatoes shows at 72 per cent, and the estimated acreage of the second crop is but 74 per cent, which is but a slight increase on the second crop over last year.

Sweet potato acreage shows at 89 per cent, with condition at 85 per cent.

Garden conditions are given at 74 per cent.

Live stock is reported in fairly good condition, with the exception of scarcity of stock water in some sections.

Pastures show a condition of 80 per cent.

Taken as a whole, the report would indicate that without continued rain this month crop conditions are exceptionally low.

It is to be hoped that with seasonable weather for the next few weeks the outcome of the crop conditions will be improved over the indications as of August 1st.

BELGIAN STATE TO FARM ITS DEVASTED LANDS

Brussels, Aug. 9.—The Belgian Government has undertaken a vast project for reclaiming the devastated farm lands in the battle zone.

Farms will be taken over from their owners and worked under the latest scientific principles, then returned in first-class condition.

Owners are to be paid 5 per cent interest on the pre-war valuation of the property during operation by the Government, which, however, is prepared to purchase the land outright in the event owners do not desire to keep their farms.

GERMAN MOB EATS HORSES OF SOLDIERS

Berlin, Aug. 9.—Fifty persons were killed during disturbances yesterday near Chemnitz, a railroad station 38 miles southwest of Dresden.

Troops were overpowered and disarmed by a mob. The soldiers' horses were slaughtered and the flesh distributed to the crowd. Many wounded persons are in the Chemnitz Hospital.

Additional troops are being sent to quiet the disorders.

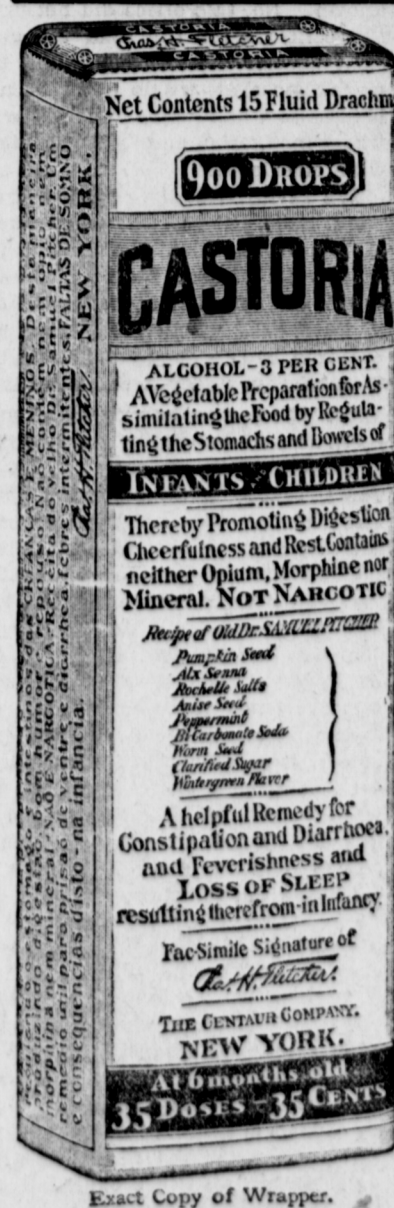

BUREAU TANGLED UP.

It is the hope of officials to make the war risk insurance bureau a permanent insurance organization that will meet the needs of American soldiers, sailors and marines. At present, however, the bureau is enmeshed in an almost hopeless tangle. Thousands of addresses are mixed up and others are lost altogether while millions of dollars of out-standing insurance is waiting to be paid. Col. R. C. Chalmers-Jones, head of the bureau, admits that he is unable to unravel the difficulty and Charles E. Hughes, former associate justice of the U. S. supreme court, has been called in to assist in placing the bureau on its feet. An advisory committee of a dozen or so experts is also aiding in the work.

We have been having some fine, cool nights for sleeping, but we ought to keep it quiet, or we may have to pay an additional luxury tax.

The Hartford Herald quotes some one in saying that 40,000 negroes in Kentucky would vote the Democratic ticket this fall. Don't you think there is very grave danger in your having "Nigger domination, Brother?"

We understand that Butler County is going to make an effort at the next session of the Legislature to have Ohio county abolished, so that the much-talked-of good road can be built from Bowling Green to Owensboro.

It has developed that the Government has sold thousands and thousands of pounds of bacon to the big interests for 30 cents per pound, yet it cost, when the ultimate consumer got hold of it, about 30 cents more per pound. Those in authority say they were afraid that prices might be disturbed, if sold to the little fellows. Wouldn't it have been a great pity? Yes, it would not.

The railroad brotherhoods, perhaps the best paid class in the whole country seem never to get through demanding. From some quarters strikes are on, from others almost open threats of war and rebellion are made in order to carry through their demands. They want to be joint owners in so far as adding to their remuneration and sharing profits are concerned, but never at any time offer to share in the losses. These are strange times, and strange things are happening.

Please excuse us, but the Herald is all-sorrowful because of the fact that the road tax was defeated in the county by 40 and J. H. Thomas' home precinct went heavily against the tax.
In spite of what it terms Thomas' "mournful" letter, but don't have a word of sympathy to offer Gabe Likens who came all the way from Washington, D. C., to turn the Herald into a John D. Carroll issue and the County away from Governor Black, and still the Governor's vote was almost two to one over Carroll. It's a shame Gabe was left out of the condolences.

"Newspaper Starts Romance." Under the foregoing caption our esteemed contemporary has an article upon its front page this week which would be practically correct if it had said
"Republican" where it used the word
"Herald." The article in question was written by Mr. Thomas and published in the Republican in June 1918. Not that it makes any material difference, but we only refer to the matter to keep the record straight.

High cost of living has the boards at the present time, in the public mind, we even hear more of the H. C.
L. than of the league of nations, due to the fact that we are brought into direct contact with the proposition of surviving almost every day of our lives. There is a bill to pay each day, of one sort or another, and the payer generally feels like he had been sand-bagged when the collector gets through with him. There is one side to the question which has received but little, if any notice at all. The Groceryman's prices, as a rule, when compared with those asked by the dealer in drygoods, clothing, shoes and kindred lines looks like a one-cent piece with a hole punched in it.
We are attempting to hold the rate of profit on flour and other necessaries at a fixed amount, yet let the drygoods merchant run wild on every article he has for sale, and his merchandise is just as necessary to the comfort and maintenance of the race as is flour, meat, lard, sugar &c.
Every man ought to have a fair profit on his effort, it makes no difference as to his line of endeavor, but plundering the helpless is another thing altogether. Let the investigation be thorough and if a halt is to be called let it be general.

In an editorial in the Hartford Herald this week, among other things we note the following:

"The Hartford Republican, in an article last week, says The Herald did not take a stand in the recent road tax election. If the Republican will consult the files it will be found that the Herald came out editorially for the road tax and has continued to do so intermittently &c."

Intermittently, yes, that's right, I like the word, it exactly expresses my idea of the Herald's position. When the Fiscal Court called the election and gave the Herald an order to publish the call &c., it did come out and approve the call for the election and supported the tax proposition "intermittently" until something happened a short time before the election, after which the Herald closed up like a clam, and then after the election accused the Fiscal court of forcing the election. You ridicule and condemn the Court for the very thing heartily approved of just four or five weeks previous. Evidently the Herald has a master somewhere, somehow, because it completely changed tactics after the "Big Wiggle" came, shortly before the election, and wouldn't bark a single bit for the road tax, neither would it come out against it, except after the election was a thing of the past. I feel quite sure that Brother Greep was for the road tax proposition, personally, because he let that fact be plainly known. No, this office did not print the petitions for the road tax election, neither did we sign one, and more than that, we do not have any idea as to who circulated them, or at whose instigation and "plotting" they were circulated.

We invite friendly criticism from our friends, but you may rest assured of one thing, that is no man, not even a set of men have undertaken to tell us just what the policy of the paper should or must be, there has not even been a suggestion as to the Republican's policy and while it is under its present management suggestions will be gladly received but dictations never. In the same article The Herald says "County mismanagement has gone on until the people's patience is worn thread-bare." From the Herald's charge one would think that the present administration had been in power for a decade or so.
When in fact the present County Administration took charge considerably less than two years ago. Your patience must have been well high worn out to start with. Give particulars, brother Greep, don't shoot at the whole "flock," there might be one innocent man somewhere in the administration and you surely don't wish to injure the guiltless.

SOME FACTS ABOUT THE ROAD TAX ELECTION

Looking over the figures showing the results of the road tax election in Ohio county on August 2, it will be seen that the proposition carried in 18 of the 34 voting precincts and also carried in four of the eight magisterial districts, and in one district, viz: Fordsville, the proposition carried by more than three to one. The magisterial districts of Hartford, Rockport and Bartlett were the other three in which the road tax carried.
In Beaver Dam magisterial district, notwithstanding the overwhelming vote of Prentiss against the tax, the majority of the whole district against it was only ten votes, and somewhat similar results was obtained in the magisterial district where the precinct of Centertown was overwhelmingly against the proposition and in which the precinct of Ceralvo gave only 3 votes in favor of the tax, yet taking the entire magisterial district into consideration the majority against the tax was only 23, as 3 of the 5 voting precincts in Centertown Magisterial district gave a majority in favor of the tax.

Every precinct in the mining district gave a majority in favor of the tax except south Rockport.

One notable feature of the tax campaign and the tax vote was the fact that it was strictly non-political. The strong Democratic precincts of Buford, Heflin, Aetnaville and Herbert gave majorities in favor of the tax, while the Republican strong-holds of Rosine, Select, Arnold and Cromwell gave majorities against the tax.

Some of the strongest champions of the tax were leading Democrats while some of the county's strongest Republicans were found among those who bitterly opposed the proposition.
The thought cannot be escaped that the sentiment in favor of good roads is growing in Ohio county. This was especially demonstrated in the number of men past the age of fifty who supported the tax. A large number of these men, who under a technical construction of the law are exempted from road working at an age of fifty years, were big hearted and generous enough, and so desirous of seeing the county improve and go forward and make progress that they warmly championed and supported the road tax.

Another conspicuous feature was the number of men who pay heavy taxes in the county that were in favor of the tax. A great majority of the largest tax payers of the county favored it, both in the towns and in the country.

It is understood that there will be no further vote taken on the question for a while, but the indications are that the sentiment in favor of better roads, coupled with the fact that better roads can not be had except by increasing the revenue to pay for them, will grow and take such hold upon the people as that sooner or later a re-submission of this question will be universally demanded and the number of those who oppose it will be very few indeed.

Such a day is certainly and surely coming.

SULPHUR SPRINGS.

We are having a protracted drouth here, crops of all kinds are needing rain and unless rain comes soon the crops in this section will be short.
Wheat threshing is over and the yield was light, but some people report that they have moved their straw stacks and cleaned up quite a bit of wheat that was blown over.
James Harvey Hamilton has purchased a lot in Sunnysdale and will put in a corn mill and crusher. The folks say they will patronize him if he agrees to grind for a just toll, which he agrees to do, so it looks as tho he will be getting rich.

Say Mister Editor, do you think the Prohibition People have anything to do with this drouth? We had plenty of rain until about the first of July. It begins to look suspicious, and if you have any influence with those Prohibitionists, have them to hold up a bit, at least until we get a rain, for a drouth inside and outside and "both" at the same time is awful hard on a fellow.

INDIAN SQUAW'S WISDOM.

Out among the Pilchuck Indians in Washington, the thrift habit has taken hold like a forest fire and the habits of wastefulness which are a tradition with the American Indian are rapidly being set aside for habits of thrift.

One of the most active boosters for thrift among this tribe is Pilchuck Julia, an aged squaw, who is looked upon by her people as a seeress of great wisdom. When Julia says "save" her worshipping followers know it is "good medicine," and move their moccasins to the local War Savings Stamp headquarters to buy Thrift and War Savings Stamps.

Recently Fred W. Graham, state director of the National Thrift Campaign, journeyed to the Pilchuck reservation and decorated Julia with the "Order of the Thrifty." When the director pinned a gaudy War Savings Stamp button upon the aged seeress's coat, she smiled and said: "Heap big snows are coming. Better save for the Great Cold."

And the braves and squaws who had assembled to witness the ceremony of decorating Julia nodded their heads solemnly in assent.

Cure For Dysentery.

"While I was in Ashland, Kansas, a gentleman overheard me speaking of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy," writes William Whitelaw, of Des Moines, Iowa. "He told me in detail of what it had done for his family, but more especially his daughter, who was lying at the point of death with a violent attack of dysentery, and had been given up by the family physician. Some of his neighbors advised him to give Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy, which he did, and fully believes that by doing so saved the life of his child. He stated that he had also used this remedy himself with equally gratifying results."

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

Here's a thought that may not have occurred to you in selling Savings Stamps: Dollars saved now will be worth half again as much in five years. This is the startling statement of experts in economics who are studying the present financial condition of the country. What is meant is that the buying power of a dollar will be increased by so much in that space of time.

At present, conditions are far from normal, owing to the world-wide effects of the war, but all authorities agree that these abnormal conditions will gradually disappear and that the dollar of 1924 will go much further, as a purchasing medium, than the dollars spent to-day.

The value of all staples has always soared immediately following a war, but as business conditions readjust themselves prices will gradually become normal again.

Thus the purchaser of Savings Stamps may reasonably expect a much greater return than the interest allows, at the time of maturity.

DOCTOR WARNED HIM AGAINST TAKING QUININE. SAID IT WOULD CAUSE PERMANENT DEAFNESS

New Braunfels, Texas, Nov. 7 1905. Dr. J. C. Mendenhall, Evansville, Ind. Dear Sir:—"For nearly seven months I had a peculiar trouble in my right ear which caused deafness. I consulted a specialist and he pronounced it to be a formation of lime in some tube or blood vessel which prevented sufficient circulation, and very little or nothing could be done for it. He also warned me not to take quinine as it would make a bad matter worse. Believing that my trouble was of malarial origin I began to take Mendenhall's Chill & Fever Tonic as you recommended it to be taken where quinine was contraindicated. To my delight I improved from the start and at this writing 28 days later, am entirely rid of my trouble. I took, in all, six bottles and will take it awhile every seventh day to prevent a return." Very truly yours, J. Giesecke, Editor New Braunfels Weekly. Sold by Ohio County Drug Co.

$1,000,000 For Big Hop.

The flight of the NC-4 across the Atlantic cost the United States, all told, about $1,000,000. This includes the cost of planes and equipment, for which $60,000 was spent, about $190,000 for experiments and the rest for maintaining the patrol of destroyers which marked the route across the ocean.

Apply a cotton cloth wet with Ballard's Snow Liniment to all wounds, cuts, burns, sores or blisters, and note its wonderful healing power. It is prompt and very effective. Price 25c, 50c and $1.00 per bottle. Sold by Ohio County Drug Co.

DO YOU STAND THE TEST?

The manufacturer of a certain food product advertises that his goods will stand the test of hot weather because they are made of the right material.

He means that his goods are as stable for use in hot weather as in more moderate temperatures—that hot weather does not affect them or break them down. If this were not true his product would not have as wide a sale because people do not buy products which can not stand weather tests.

Do you slump in the summer or are you made of the right material which stands all the tests?

If you have quit saving because it is hot weather, you are not made of the right material.

War Savings and Thrift Stamps are available all the year around. If you have been buying them regardless of hot weather and vacation time next year your vacation will be all the better because you'll have something substantial to enjoy it on.

Has it ever occurred to you that a worn-out range wastes money in burning too much fuel and spoiling food? A range expert who will have charge of the MAJESTIC DEMONSTRATION during the week commencing August 18th, will show you how the MAJESTIC range cuts down household expenses.

PET CARP TELLS HIM WHEN BITING IS GOOD

Meadeville, Pa., Aug. 9.—One of the best fish stories of the season comes from Crawford county, where a man owns a pet carp. Whenever he desires to go fishing he digs a few angle worms and throws them into the tank occupied by the carp. If the pet fish grabs them, the man takes up his bait and tackle and proceeds to the nearest fishing place; if, on the other hand, the carp passes them up, the man stays at home. As a result, this man returns with a fine catch every time he makes a trip to his favorite fishing stream, so he says.

MUNITIONS SHORTAGE STOPS RUSSIAN REDS

London, Aug. 9.—The Bolsheviks are suffering a shortage of munitions. They have been obliged to cease operations against the troops of Admiral Kolchak, head of the All-Russian Government at Omsk, according to advices received here to-day.

The Mohammedans of Northwestern Persia and Turkestan are rising against the Bolsheviks because of resentment over conscription, according to dispatches from Simla, India.

INDIANA CROPS HARD HIT BY JULY DROUGHT

Indianapolis, Aug. 9.—July drought conditions were very disastrous to all growing crops in this state, according to the report of the Indiana co-operative crop reporting service issued to-day. Practically all crops show a decided deterioration from the July report. Spring wheat seems to have been hit harder than any of the other crops, with white potatoes running a close second.

The distinction of being the only witness to the signing of the Peace Treaty of 1919, who also saw the signing of the peace pact that brought the Franco-Prussian War to a close in 1871, belongs to Lord Dunraven, of London. His presence at the recent signing was at the special request of Queen Mary and King George. Lord Dunraven is 77 years old.

URGE CLEMENCEAU TO COME TO U. S.

Paris, Aug. 8.—The presence of Premier Clemenceau at the first General Assembly of the League of Nations at Washington is strongly urged in American quarters, according to Marcel Hutin, of the Echo de Paris, who said his informant is a French statesman.

M. Hutin added that, while of course the Premier "cannot bind himself to go to America at the time when his presence in France is particularly necessary, it may be possible to arrange things, and M. Clemenceau will be unlikely to remain insensible to the pressing invitations he is getting from America."

As to the date of the assembly, it is said an exchange of views between the Allied Governments now is going on. In some quarters there is some sentiment in favor of delaying the meeting until a well-arranged program is drawn up, but others, notably the French, express the opinion the assembly should be held this fall, so that a program of guiding principles could be firmly established.

London, Aug. 8th.—The surrender of Gen. Kruska, commander of the German prison camp at Kaiser, has been demanded by the Allies as the first of the enemy officials to be tried for violations of international law during the war, according to a Copenhagen dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company, quoting Berlin advices.

Gen. Kruska is accused of having been responsible for an epidemic of typhus fever at the Kaiser camp, which caused the deaths of 3,000 French prisoners.

MY HEAD!

When the head feels thick or aches, when one feels all out-of-sorts—perhaps a coated tongue—it is the signal that poisons are accumulating in the system, and should be cleaned out at once.

Auto-intoxication can be best ascribed to our own neglect or carelessness. When the organs fail in the discharge of their duties, the putrefactive germs set in and generate toxins—actual poisons, which fill one's own body.

Sleepiness after meals, flushing of the face, extreme lassitude, biliousness, dizziness, sick headache, acidity of the stomach, heartburn, offensive breath, anemia, loss of weight and muscular power, decrease of vitality or lowering of resistance to infectious diseases, disturbance of the eye, dyspepsia, indigestion, gastritis, many forms of catarrh, asthma, ear affections and allied ailments result from auto-intoxication or self-poisoning.

Take castor oil, or procure at the drug store, a pleasant vegetable laxative, called Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, composed of May-apple, aloes and jalap.

FARM DEPARTMENT.

POTATOES PROPERLY STORED LOSE LITTLE

Potatoes properly stored should not sustain a loss throughout the winter season of more than 5 per cent, and under exceptionally good conditions not more than 3 or 4 per cent, according to specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture. The maximum return from the crop after it is produced depends on the care with which the potatoes are harvested, stored, graded, sacked and the ability of the grower to sell at the most advantageous time.

Approximately one-third of the main potato crop is marketed at harvest time, and the remainder is stored as a reserve supply for winter and spring. It is physically impossible, as well as economically undesirable, to attempt to market the entire crop in the autumn, and the only way in which potatoes can be handled successfully, so as to insure a uniform supply, is to provide sufficient storage on the farm or at the shipping station for from 65 to 75 per cent of the crop.

Various types of storage places are now in use, ranging from pits or cheaply constructed dugouts to large, substantially-built storage houses. Plans for the construction of storage houses are given in the department's Farmers' Bulletin 874.

Moderate Temperature Necessary

For successful storage, the tubers must be protected from extremes of cold and heat; a temperature of from 35 to 40 degrees F. is considered satisfactory. Sufficient ventilation must be provided to remove foul air and excessive moisture. The storage house must be so constructed as to make it possible to exclude the light, as the table quality of potatoes quickly deteriorates in the light.

The tubers should be dry and reasonably free from dirt when put into storage; an excess of moisture or soil increases the amount of heat in newly stored potatoes. The soil tends to fill up the spaces between the tubers, thus cutting off air circulation and helping to retain heat that would otherwise escape. All diseased, badly cut, or bruised tubers should be removed from the crop before putting it into storage.

It is a common practice for commercial growers and shippers to store potatoes in bins to a depth of 10 to 15 feet. This is almost certain to entail a much heavier shrinkage loss than when stored to a depth of not more than 6 feet. The heavier shrinkage is the result of the greater amount of heat generated by a large pile of potatoes, which results in a higher amount of moisture loss as well as a heavier loss from decay, as heat and moisture both help to develop organisms causing tuber rots. Frequently the losses sustained when the potatoes are stored under these conditions reach 25 per cent, and where rigid care has not been exercised to remove all diseased tubers before storing the crop the loss is even greater. It is advisable, therefore, to pile the potatoes not greater than 5 or 6 feet deep, and the floor dimensions of the bin should not be greater than 12 by 12 feet, unless provided with a series of ventilating shafts or division walls for the escape of moisture and heat.

How We Lead In Swine.

Of cattle the world contains probably 475 million head, of which the United States has about one-seventh. Of sheep the world contains approximately 500 million head, of which the United States has about one-tenth.

Of swine the world contains in the neighborhood of 180 million head, of which the United States contains considerably more than one-third.

In other words, swine are less numerous than either sheep or cattle in the world at large, but are more numerous than either in the United States.

Or the same classes may be considered in this way:

In cattle the United States is second to India, with three other countries, Russia, Brazil and Argentina, following.

In sheep the United States is second to Australia, with Argentina, Russia, and New Zealand, the principal sheep-raising competitors.

In swine the United States is easily first, and this year has more hogs than her 10 nearest competitors all combined. The closest of these are Brazil, Germany and Russia.

So the greater abundance of swine is perhaps the most noteworthy difference between the meat resources of the United States and most other countries.

1919 Swine Show.

The National Swine Growers' Association will hold its annual swine show and exhibition at Des Moines, Iowa, September 29th to October 4th. Entries close September 13th.

Nearly twenty thousand dollars is offered in prizes. Arrangements have been made with the Iowa State Fair to utilize all of the buildings and equipment, which will give ample space and accommodations.

The National Swine Show is a round-up of the best hogs of the various breeds as well as a full exhibition of allied lines, such as feed, equipment, experimental work, meat and meat demonstrations, judging, etc.

County agents are especially invited to give close attention to this show and to make county farm bureau exhibits, either collectively or individually by the owners.

For premium list and other information, write to W. J. Carmichael, Secretary, 57 West Van Buren st., Chicago, Ill.

Importance Of Cleanliness.

Everything about a poultry house should be kept reasonably clean. As a rule droppings should be removed daily, for the accumulation of excrement harbors parasites, contaminates the air, and breeds contagion. After the dropping boards have been cleaned, they should be sprinkled with road dust, coal ashes, land plaster, or air-slacked lime to absorb the liquid excrement. Nests in which straw or other similar material is used should be cleaned out and new straw put in about once every three or four weeks, or oftener if it becomes damp or dirty.

The quarters should be thoroughly whitewashed at least once a year, late in summer or early fall. The whitewash can be made by slacking lime in boiling water and then chinning to the proper consistency for applying. The addition of 4 ounces of carbolic acid to each gallon of whitewash will increase its disinfecting power. The runs should be plowed occasionally in order to bury the accumulated droppings and also to turn up fresh soil.

Destruction of grasshopper eggs by fall plowing, disking, or harrowing is recommended where practicable.

Many a fine field of corn in the South Atlantic States is broken off by heavy winds during the later growing season. Examination will show that the stalks had been weakened by insects boring into them. The damage was done by a pale, dark-spotted caterpillar, the larger corn-stalk borer.

Although grasshoppers are not usually noticed by the farmer until they have reached a considerable size, they begin to injure his crop immediately upon hatching from the egg. They should be detected and combated, therefore, while young and small, so that time, labor, and material, as well as crops, may be saved.

Treatment For Diseases Common Among Fowls.

All diseased birds should be isolated.

Colds and Rouse—Disinfect the drinking water as follows: To each gallon of water add one tablespoonful of sodium sulphite or as much potassium permanganate as will remain on the surface of a dime.

Chicken Pox—Put a touch of iodine on each sore and apply carbolated vaseline.

Gapes.—Fresh ground and vigorous cultivation will often remedy this trouble, which is caused by small gapeworms that live in the soil and attach themselves to the inside of the throat.

Diarrhoea in Hens—Low-grade wheat flour or middlings is good for this trouble. Teaspoonful of castor oil containing five drops of oil of turpentine to each bowl is also good.

Bumblefoot—When the feet are badly swollen, a small cut should be made with a clean, sharp knife and the pus removed. Wash the wound out with equal parts of hydrogen peroxide and water, grease with vaseline, and bandage.

Limberneck—A teaspoonful of castor oil given to the fowl will sometimes effect a cure.

Scaly legs—Apply vaseline containing 2 per cent of creolin to the affected parts and after 24 hours soak in warm water. Repeat treatment until cured.

For a detailed discussion of the foregoing and other poultry diseases, request Farmers' Bulletin 907, "Important Poultry Diseases," from the United States Department of Agriculture.

When feeding wet mash to fowls, be sure that they are crumbly and not sticky. Plenty of exercise increases the egg yield.

Pop Corn As Food.

Besides being a source of entertainment for the children, pop corn, which is the corn kernel cooked whole, instead of being ground and then cooked, obviously has a high food value, as well as a good taste and when properly prepared for the table it may acceptably take the place of many of the breakfast foods now on the market. Pop corn may be eaten with milk and sugar like other breakfast cereals, or the parched kernels which do not "pop out" can be ground like coffee, and eaten with cream and sugar or can be boiled with water and served like oatmeal.

Girls Must Look To Their Laurels.

The canning demonstration awarded first prize at the Montana State Fair last fall was put on by a high-school boy, a member of the boys' and girls' club conducted by the United States Department of Agriculture and the State Agriculture College. Likewise, the first prize in the bread demonstration went to a boy—one from the same high school. Both lads were over 17. One of the ideals of the leaders in the club work is to socialize the members, as they believe a happier and more successful home life is obtained when the man is familiar with the woman's work, and vice versa.

County Agents Cheap At Price

The price of a good cigar once a year is all that it costs the farmers in many counties to have the benefits of county agents, is the way the Reed Carpenter, of Mansfield, Ohio, treasurer of the American Shorthorn Breeder's Association, put it recently in addressing a large gathering at a Shorthorn sale in Oklahoma.

KENTUCKY CORN AND WHEAT CROPS SHORT

Frankfort, Ky., Aug. 9.—Prospects are for a short yield of corn in Kentucky, especially in the corn belt in the western part of the State, according to the Commissioner of Agriculture Cohen's latest crop report. Sorghum is almost a failure, hemp is little better off, and dark tobacco has suffered severely. Burley, however, shows a slight improvement over last month. The State over, the condition of corn is 74 per cent as against an average of 94 heretofore. The very wet weather of the early spring retarded planting and the crop is but 74 per cent, which is weeks of extremely dry weather that followed made the season unfavorable.

Wheat did not come up to expectations, Commissioner Cohen reports. The State average being given at eleven bushels less than last month's estimate. Condition of hay is 93 per cent with an estimate yield of 1.5 tons per acre. Second cutting of alfalfa will yield a ton an acre, it is estimated. Condition of fruits is given at 56 per cent, while melons are figured at 69. Condition of potatoes is given at 72 per cent, and the estimated acreage of the second

Life Was a Misery

Mrs. F. M. Jones, of Palmer, Okla., writes: "From the time I entered into womanhood . . . I looked with dread from one month to the next. I suffered with my back and bearing-down pain, until life to me was a misery. I would think I could not endure the pain any longer, and I gradually got worse. . . Nothing seemed to help me until, one day, . . . I decided to

"It has now been two years since I took Cardui, and I am still in good health. . . I would advise any woman or girl to use Cardui who is a sufferer from any female trouble."

STRAY STREAKS

(By Fluke McFluke.)

If fortunes and successes were made up of desires, there would be never-ending battle between the wishers.

Mark Fogle says Doc Pirtle got hold of him 'tother day and pulled his wisdom teeth, and he hain't knowed nuthin much ever since.

We know of some men who aspire to be as signboards to the wayward, who, if turned loose in the ring, in a boxing bout with the devil, would never get as much as one glove on.

I notice that the Louisville Times in reporting the incident of the robbery of the bank at South Carrollton, Monday, said the bandits escaped across the river into Indiana. Hoosier reporter?

The Ice man and the Meat man are exactly alike in one respect. When they throw a chunk of ice or a piece of meat called for, on the scales they never miss the guess far enough to have to go back after the second piece of either.

Alec Porter went to Louisville the other day to attend a Circuit Court Clerk's meeting and at the last moment Miss Porter thought best that she go along to tend to Alec. We feel sort of sorry for Alec, but congratulate Mrs. Porter on her very good judgment.

As I have heretofore stated, there is some good in all misfortune. When my wife tries to get me to work in the garden and I tell her that I can't possibly do so for lack of time, John Henry is not here to butt in with the remark that we can spare me from the office, that we are in good shape &c., and thereby leave me without an alibi.

Mister Alec Curtis is smiling smiles that water and bricks can efface not, engine trouble and arising before day doth not obliterate, or in anyway affect his smile-be-spattered and beaming countenance. Only time, the eradicator of all things earthy, and of the earth, may have power to remove the aforesaid smiles. We know not whereof, nor the wherefores, but we can only guess.

Now, that the W. C. T. U., generally known as White-ribboners, have crossed Mr. John Barleycorn's still, white hands on his once proud breast, have said the last rites and sung the great dirge o'er his bier, they are now turning their attention to the extermination of "terbacker." And, I want to tell you right now, they are fixing to make this community lose the best and most faithful fisherman ever turned loose in it.

UNIQUE CHARACTER DEAD.

The death of Andrew Carnegie, at one time the recognized iron master of the continent, marks the passing of a great character, in some respects the most unique of present history. Starting out a poor and obscure individual, he rose in the financial world to be the second wealthiest person in the United States and could have easily outstripped the other individual had he not retired some years ago. His greatest effort has been to give his money away. In that he failed, still having quite a few millions when the end came.

U. S. DEAD IN FRANCE CAN BE BROUGHT BACK

Washington, Aug. 9.—Apparently there is no French law prohibiting removal of the bodies of American soldiers dead from French soil "for a period of three years from January 1, 1919."

The House Foreign Affairs Committee had been informed that such a law existed, but Secretary Lansing wrote Chairman Porter to-day that while a bill along this line had been introduced in the French Chamber of Deputies, it had not yet been acted upon.

The Foreign Affairs Committee has before it a resolution proposing the immediate return of the bodies of the American soldiers killed in the war.

THE BARGAIN

—AND IT'S WELL WORTH YOUR WHILE!

Through special arrangements with the manufacturers, and during this Bargain Week only, a beautiful, useful and substantial set of Cooking Ware will be given with every Majestic Range sold. This ware is good ware (not cheap ware)—it's worth a lot to you. Come and see for yourself.

And Remember---

The price of a Majestic Range this week will not be increased, and there will hardly be a great reduction for years to come, if ever, but there may be an increase soon.

TWO NEW AND IMPORTANT FEATURES

The Wonderful Unseen Riveting

Yes, it's rivet-tight, just like the old Majestic, but the rivets clinch inside of nickled parts, leaving nickel smooth as glass, and there are no big, bulky bolt-heads on the inside. And, remember, rivets hold tight; bolts with only one or two threads holding are bound to work loose and cause no end of trouble. The Majestic is smooth inside and outside—it's a striking beauty—more than skin deep.

If you haven't a Majestic, avail yourself of this opportunity to get acquainted with this wonderful range. Know the inside of ranges.

AT STATE HEADQUARTERS

Republican Campaign Managers Are Planning a Vigorous Campaign for the Fall Elections.

Republican state headquarters on the third floor of the Republic building a few steps from the Watterson Hotel in Louisville are teeming with activity.

The complete state organization is being rapidly effected in preparation for an active campaign to be conducted with vigor until the election on November 4.

Organization, speakers, publicity and other bureaus have been established and state-wide promotion of the Republican cause is now being carried out.

Already the campaign tours of candidates and well known speakers within the party ranks are being arranged and by election day every section of Kentucky will be given an opportunity to hear the principles for which the party candidates stand declared from the platforms.

Publicity of a convincing nature is being outlined. Facts and figures will be produced to show the misrule of the Democratic party that has plunged the state deeper into debt and has placed tremendous burdens upon the taxpayers.

Republicans of the state and all others who believe in a fit administration of state affairs are cordially invited to visit headquarters in Louisville.

STATE CANDIDATES AT MEETING

An enthusiastic meeting of all the candidates on the Republican state ticket in Kentucky was held at the state headquarters on the third floor of the Republic building in Louisville, and general plans for an aggressive campaign were adopted.

NOTICE TO TAXPAYERS.

While the law requires all taxpayers to come to our office and give a complete list of all their taxable property, we will for the convenience of those in remote districts, visit their respective voting places, as per future advertisements. Watch for the notice.

What Your Neighbors Say

J. D. WILLIAMS & SONS

Gentlemen: In reply to your request for my opinion of the DeLaval separator, will say that I surely think it pays to use a separator if you have as many as three or four cows. I have been using the De Laval for two years and have never used any other, for this one has always given me perfect satisfaction. It is easy to operate and I can wash mine in fifteen minutes, giving it an extra special weekly boiling, and cleaning of the stand. This is much less time than I would have to give to pans and such by hand skimming, to say nothing of the extra cream, and the extra labor saved in carrying my milk to the cellar and putting it away so that the cream would rise.

Respectfully,
MRS. HENRY PIRTLE.
